

An E-mail to the United Nations

Answer :

1. Read this internet advert and answer the questions below.

- a. this advert internet about Education
- b. I can take part in this campaign by sending and e-mails .

2- write and e-mail to the Secretary General of the United Nations to support this cause.

Dear Mr Secretary General,

After I've read your e-mail I was enthusiastic to take part in this campaign and support children who can't go to school financially and morally, well, we should help children who deprived of go to school by giving them furnitures and making their parents a ware of the importance of studding I mean that when you're literate you can read and write take part in the development of the society bring up your children conectly and lead a better life and can get a better job in the contrary if you're illiteracy that's to say that you can't express yourself in such civilized way, and you can't know about their rights as a consequence of this you can be exposed to the discrimination at wok and in your public life so I address to the parents to send their children to schooling and cover for then expenses by any way.